The Aged care Training Room- What our subscribers are saying!

The ANMF Aged Care Training Room was launched in 2012 to deliver an online continuing professional development solution for nurses and others who provide care and services to older people in hospital, at home and in residential care. The Aged Care Training Room has quickly gained favour.

Nurses and other aged care workers find the system easy to use and the consistently positive evaluation feedback is testament to the quality and applicability of the content across the acute, residential and home care settings.

“I am a 41yr old, Enrolled Nurse & graduated 20yrs ago. Whilst reading the ANMF journal, I saw the advertisement for the ANMF Aged Care Training Room. I kept the article, then a few weeks later, made the decision to pay the minimal fee to join.

Completing my selected topics online is so convenient. There are numerous topics, which makes it easy to choose what is specific for your area of employment or interest.

The information is clear and concise. The assessments are relevant and necessary, to ensure you have understood your chosen topic. It is so rewarding to see the ‘competent’ result once you have finished.

You can also check your CPD hours progress. I believe this has made me more confident in my work and I feel satisfied that I am completing my required minimal 20 hours for re registration. There is always assistance if you have questions and the team is very supportive.

I highly recommend the ANMF Aged Care Training Room to Nurses who are looking for a convenient and prompt way to complete their CPD, in their own time, at their own pace, with no travel expenses, no seminar fees, just the joining fee, it really is so easy.”
